

Dr Rina Agrawal - CV Summary:

Training Record:

- 1985 MBBS (Bombay University, India)
- 1988 DGO (College of Physicians and Surgeons, India)
- 1989 MD (Obstetrics and Gynaecology, Bombay University, India)
- 1994 MRCOG (RCOG, London, UK)
- 2000 PhD (University College London, UK)
- 2008 FICOG (Federation of Indian Society of Obs/Gyn, Mumbai, India)

Research Degrees:

- 1989 MD (Chorion Villous sampling)
- 2000 PhD (Vascular Endothelial Growth Factor in Reproductive Function)
- 2008 FICOG (Collaborative Research between UK and India)

Publications:

- Over 50 peer reviewed articles/chapters/reviews
- Co Editor Book on Polycystic Ovary Syndrome 2007
- Working party Basic Practical Skills in Obs/Gyn (RCOG publications) - 2008

Academic Impact of publications:

- Average Citation Index of publications 44.5
- Health policy: Meta-analysis Use of gonadotrophins (Agrawal et al., 2000, Fertil & Steril) Findings of the study used to implement the 5th key priority rec. Fertility NICE Guidelines 2004
- Communication with public: PCOS study Agrawal et al., 2004 F&S – World Wide Media
- Grants: Secured 5 Research Grants as Principal Investigator, applied for further 3

Honours and Awards:

- “Pride of India” Awards selection January 2011
- Awarded the Presidential “Hind Rattan” Award also known as the “Jewel of India” award on the Eve of Republic day in January 2010 in New Delhi, India. The award recognizes outstanding economic & philanthropic achievements in my field and the significant contributions & service made to India. Besides being actively involved in education and research in the field of IVF in India she proactively participates in charities which educate the orphaned and deprived children of India. Now in its 29th year, the “Hind Rattan” is presented by Indian Government officials each year to 30 leading expatriates from worldwide Indian Diaspora.
- OSCA (Outstanding Service and Care Award) nomination at University Hospital of Warwickshire NHS Trust in June 2010.
- Pravasi Achievers Gold Medal at House of Lords, London for outstanding contributions to the field of reproductive medicine – London September 2010
- NHS London Innovation Award Nomination for describing a simple cost effective test to diagnose ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome (OHSS), a serious complication of IVF Treatment - 2009
- UK – India Research Collaborator – FOGSI, India 2009
- Innovative research “Vascular Endothelial Growth Factor in Reproduction” 1998
- Scholarship for study overseas in 1989

Other academic commitments:

- RCOG London: Admitted to International Board (2010) and Board of Conveners/ Working Party (2006) and Co Convener of Basic Practical Skills in Obstetrics and Gynaecology
- Member of the Academic Association of Obstetrics and Gynaecology in UK
- Panel Member of London Deanery, UK for recruitment of doctors in training for Obs / Gynae
- Educational Supervisor/Preceptor for Advanced Training in “Reproductive Medicine” Modules in London Deanery, Midlands Deanery, RCOG and British fertility Society in UK
- Referee for International Fertility Journals
- Invited speaker in > 50 International/National meetings
- Presented research in > 50 meetings